

AKAVIA FOR YOU

Akavia is a union for academic graduates, and we represent professionals working in economics, law, social sciences, IT, HR and communication. Over 130,000 professionals have chosen us as their union representative which makes us the second largest union within Saco, the Swedish Confederation of Professional Associations. Our name, Akavia, stands for "academic path" and we are committed to ensuring that all our members get a return on the investment they made in higher education. We are a non-partisan organisation and committed to work for a sustainable working life.

OVERVIEW OF AKAVIA

- We are experts in your profession.
- We are present in all sectors and industries which means you do not need to change union when you change employer.
- You get peace of mind in the form of income insurance, union advice and group insurance.
- We negotiate good terms and conditions in collective agreements.
- You have access to salary statistics, career services, networks, seminars and events.
- We are proponents of rewarding academic education with qualified tasks and high salaries.
- We believe that individual performance and results should be rewarded, and we therefore encourage individual solutions.
- We collaborate at the workplace with other Saco unions. Together, we are stronger.
- You will receive the Akavia Aspekt membership magazine. The magazine reflects working life and offers a range of forward-looking trends, work tools and more in-depth materials.

OUR MISSION:

To provide our members with the most important tools and the best network to enable their development throughout their careers.”
